CLIPS  QUOTES  COMMENTS

G - 4

February 1, 1957

CONTENTS: PAGES:

Letter from Trevor James - ... 1 - 4
- and - Comment -

"The Fight For Survival" - ... - 5
(McCall's magazine)

"Akualele Research Bulletin" - ... - 6
(Riley Crabb, Director)

"Flying Saucer Review" (London) - ... 7 - 8

Miscellanea: ... - 9

"Pendulum" (London) -
"Saucerian Bulletin" (Gray Barker) -
Recommended reading -

Parade of the Fantastic - ... -10

* * * * * * *

CLIPS, QUOTES, and COMMENTS is issued on the first of each month, by the Borderland Sciences Research Associates. National Hdqrs., - 3524 Adams Ave., - San Diego 16, California. Sample copies on request. Most back issues available. 12 issues (12 months), $5.00. Six issues (6 months), $2.50. Two issues for $1.00. -- Meade Layne, M.A., Editor and BSR Director.

Letter to the Editor

- from

TREVOR JAMES.

This morning I was discussing some theories with F.T. and he suggested that I set them down so that they would not be lost. I believe that the basic material in these theories has been given to me during sleep, since they 'sort of' suddenly appeared in the conscious mind and contain some merit. You may, if you wish, print them, or otherwise disseminate them at your discretion.

I quote first of all an 'Ashtar' communication which does not appear in the published brochure, but which is contained in Spacemen in its complete form.

"We are able to travel a great deal in our own etheric bodies. These are made of material so fine that they are responsive to the subtle energies of of thought, over which we have complete control. Our bodies respond to these thought energies with exactness. However, in addition, we have craft for the dense atmosphere of Shan. These are the Ventlas and other craft you have seen. It is a trial for a spaceman to come into the area and atmosphere of Shan. The atmosphere and vibratory level are things they must endure in assisting your people. They use the craft as you would a submarine, namely, to travel in an unnatural medium. At times it is necessary for them to leave the craft, in the same way that you might require your skin divers to go under the surface of your seas to perform certain tasks. But they must have bases where they can rest, if that term be applicable to our activities, and above all, where they can return for periods to their natural vibratory level and density which prevail within the craft we use. However, rest assured that many of the strange and changing shapes that have been observed as unidentified flying objects are actually the spacemen themselves.* Remember we are not gravity bound, and not of the same order of matter as yourselves. I trust this clarifies the general query you have made."

(NOTE by Editor: Some seven or eight years ago the occultist Gerald Light, writing in Round Robin, asserted that many of the Aeroforms were actually living entities. And we have repeatedly pointed out, that the vast variety and clearly defined shapes of many - tho' not all - of the sky phenomena are not consistent with the random action of known forces on 'matter' as familiar to us. Either these objects are mind-controlled or are themselves living and rational beings. We must accustom ourselves to the thesis that 'minds have bodies', and that bodies composed of certain grades of substance are completely under mental control - and hence can and do assume any desired form. Can we draw a line of distinction between our own minds and bodies? Give the average human an etheric body - which he indeed has - and the right knowledge and evolutionary development, and he could make himself - a unitary one-self - into any shape and size and color and action, perceptible or unperceived which his need and imagination may demand. This is crudely put but metaphysic can hardly quarrel with it - and anyone who thinks this current mystery can be solved within the framework of present-day physics, without an appeal to metaphysical concepts is whistling against a high wind. Re-read, if you will, lines 15-19 above. They make good sense and will some day make good science also - though Ashtar's hope for immediate 'clarification' is undoubtedly misplaced.

(The underscoring in line 17, sup., is by the editor. Having memorized lls 15-18, let us continue with Mr. Trevor James).

..

1. Adopting the usual procedure of accepting this theory in the meantime, until something better or more easily provable comes along, let us now seek to reconcile it with observed facts. To begin with, the variation in shape of observed UFO's is almost limitless. Everything from spheres to amorphous gobs has been seen, by way of triangles, rectangles, and a limitless variety of symetrical and asymetrical shapes. It could be possible, in light of the above, that UFO of this description are responding to the thought energies of the observer concentrating upon them. If the observer, for example, thinks he sees a triangle, perhaps a projection of his thought takes place and sends the vehicle of the spaceman into the shape of a triangle. We know that we can change the shape of physical crystals by thought power, is it logical then to suppose that our thoughts will change the shape of a much finer type of matter. I think that it is very logical that this should be going on, in the light of this above information. Certainly the limitless variety of shapes ought to be fair warning to those well-meaning worthies who are trying to classify UFO along the same lines used in the services for aircraft, enemy and otherwise. The range of silhouettes is too vast, too varied, and too much at odds with what contemporary thought considers necessary to make something fly.

(Editor's note: In connection with the foregoing paragraph, consider the well-known 'cloud-busting' experiments of Dr. Rolf Alexander. It would be interesting to find out by experiment whether a group of 'Earthians' by concentrating mentally on one of the fantastic UFO, could produce any effect. . . There is a good deal of data on prayer effects, and in the matter of hexing or blessing plants and seeds, all of which is a kind of 'action at a distance' - telepathy of a sort but acting on life forms other than human recipients. There are abundant data to make such experiments plausible. Effects of thought energy on microscopic crystals, as shown by microphotographs, were amply demonstrated by Dr. Charles W. Littlefield but of course given a complete and effective brush-off by biologists and M.D.'s generally. · To continue with Assoc. James:)

2. Let us further explore the possibilities which this communication from Ashtar opens up. Might not the craft we see be intradimensional vehicles rather than interplanetary machines. Or intravibrational vehicles? We cannot dive into the ocean without equipment of one kind or another, the purpose of which is to maintain natural conditions in an unnatural environment. The same is true of airplane flights into the stratosphere, where cabins have to be pressurized and heated. The space people may well be doing essentially the same thing on a large scale - going into an unnatural environment with the aid of equipment fabricated on their own plane of existence.

(Note to para. 2 sup. The three "intra" terms used are not mutually exclusive. We have repeatedly pointed out, that a change of frequency is equivalent to a change of location. If I say 'I am here' the meaning is only that my senses are responding to a certain environment to which I am 'tuned in'. If this tuning in is changed to another frequency rate, the perceived environment will disappear, to be replaced by another - i.e., one's location is different. "You are where your consciousness is - for if not, where are you ? The answer to the flight of the true space-craft involves the elimination of the space-time factors, and their 'crossing of space' may not require any 'craft' at all, but only the shaping of the Etherian's own body into some convenient form, and then its instant transfer - a shift of awareness - to a new 'locale'. Great ships may be made and used, for many practical reasons, but even these do not 'cross space' of millions of light years by any form of locomotion known to Earthians. The analogue needed here has been known for ages as the practise of 'projection', by occultists and innumerable other folk. I repeat, that this interpretation applies to certain types of true space ships only. ml

1. If we accept the etheric explanation of these people, and realize that they do not have bodies of the density of our own, the Ashtar communication seems to become even more meritorious. For would it not be possible for these being to originate in what appears to us to be space, but which in fact may be filled with worlds within worlds - all equally as real as ours but imperceptible to our limited physical vision. In order to see us or help us it is doubtless true that these intervibrational craft must come down close to, or exactly to our frequency here, at which point they become perceptible to our senses, and therefore 'real'.

2. In the stampede to jam the interplanetary explanation down the throats of all and sundry, writers who have fallen for this in its entirety have come up against a brick wall in the form of the invariable question: "Why don't they land?" The only reply so far seems to be, that the visitors 'know what they are doing'. My own theory at present is, that many of them would like to land but cannot, because the vibrations here would destroy them as surely as their vibration will destroy us. Some of them may be completely unable to venture beyond the confines of their craft - just as we may never be able to enter their craft in our present physical form.

3. Here again I am able to draw upon my own experience in buttressing the theory. The early contacts with these etheric beings imposed upon my physical body as severe a strain as it has ever undergone. The pulse rate rises, the heart feels as though it is coming off its hooks, and the temperature soars. In time this passes and the physical body becomes accustomed to its power.. But I can warn all those seeking to burst the veil that they had better be in the best of physical condition, lest this vibration produce very serious physical effects.

4. Now, from the untold and unknowable higher dimensions there may be a great variety of beings visiting our planet in these craft, and they may be from many vibrations, some of them unable to have any contact with us, and unable to bring their craft to earth for the simple reason of short-circuit and grounding of the force field. There are others who undoubtedly are equipped and authorized to contact humans, and it is with these that most contact is being made.

5. There are other beings from not-so-high dimensions, jealous of our carnate station, confin'ed around us and also able to contact human beings for purposes something less than idealistic. These, I believe, are the 'foes' of mankind, while others are here to offer help to those who are fitted to receive it.

6. Another item of my personal belief is that the astrals have to emerge at or near the South Pole, because the lift of their craft is obtained from the magnetic fields of the earth. They have something to react with the fields to give them their lift. Once aloft, I believe that at least some of them are propelled by a form of oxy-hydrogen jet engine. This is the reason they 'steal' water, which breaks down into fuel and burns with a bluish-white flame. This again comes back to Ashtar's communications and bears them out. It is at least good exercise to let the understanding extend itself in this manner.

(Trevor James)

NOTES: Para. 1, sup. (by CQC Editor):

Space is not nothingness, and the expression 'empty space' is meaningless. We have to attach as much reality to the inter-spaces, says Eddington, as to the particles; '" It takes an army of symbols to describe what goes on in the inter-spaces". Only when space is conceived to equate with the ether(s), and the ether itself as a matrix or primary form of matter with qualities sui generis - only from some such approach is the word space more than an empty vocable. It is a commonplace of science that there is 'room' within the atom for a multitude of 'particles', and 'between' these for other particles - system within system, material worlds within worlds. This 'room', again, is not nothing, but stuff, ether-stuff and of enormous density, of which our tangible and visible matter is a rarefaction . . .

Para. 2, sup. The "why don't they land" question: The reply to this is simply: Why should they? They have by all indications been visiting our planet for thousands of years. They have nothing to learn from us. But the question makes no sense, simply because we have no certain knowledge of their real purpose and objectives. Why should we tell them how to go about their business, unless we know what that business is. And meanwhile, have we welcomed them - otherwise than with attack, with gun fire and fighter jets - a fine encouragement for any friendly overtures!

Para. 3, sup. We have been told more than once, by communicators from the 'other side', that no earth dweller has ever made, or ever will make a true space flight in his normal physical body, unless he is preconditioned by fixed dosages of radiation. There is abundant data bearing on magnetic fields and powerful radiation from low-flying or landed craft to make this dictum highly probable. The personal experience of Mr. James is excellent confirmation.

Para. 6, sup. In the last issue of Clips & Quotes (which was two weeks late in being mailed, due to illness of office helpers and trouble with mimeo. equipment) I pointed out once again the enormous complexity of the whole problem of the aeroforms, and the inviolable determination of 'experts' to find some simple-and-single explanation to dispose of the matter. Of course, the more we learn, the more data accuumulate, the more impossible such simplification becomes. Absurd as it may seem, the matter of the underground people and of the polar openings will eventually be items of importance. As to the use of water as fuel, there is a possibly relevant item in the APRG REPORTER (5108 Findlay St., Seattle, Wash. - to the following effect: - 'An unprecedented concentration of UFO sightings covering a three-state area was reported, starting Nov. 8, from So. Dak., No. Dak. and Minn. The sightings, made during nearly every hour of day and night, continued until Dec. 2. -- The APRG investigation netted 85 separate visual sightings from 60 different localities ... In %95 of the cases the UFO were seen above railroad towns; the greatest concentration was in the N.E. section of So. Dak. This particular area is dotted with fresh water lakes and storage reservoirs. (underscored by ML. The significance of these findings is still unsolved, but that some intelligent intention on the part of the objects was in evidence can hardly be denied.'

(end of quote from APRG Reporter). Whether Trevor James hypothesis about the use of water as fuel applies to this performance, remains to be seen, but certainly should not be dismissed too hastily. (ML).

("The APRG REPORTER is an official publication of Aerial Phenomena Re - search Group; 5108 Findlay St., Seattle, and is issued monthly to members only. Inquiries should be made to that address." This is a six-page (legal size) mimeo bulletin, and the issue here quoted from contains some very remarkable data of UFO happenings. We do not have information concerning membership and costs. All material copyrighted. Ask for a membership questionaire.

THE TWO-PART BROCHURE BY TREVOR JAMES (Spacement- Friends and Foes) may be had from BSRA HDQRS, 3524 Adams Ave., San Diego 16, Calif. Recommended to all Associates. ($2.00). Mr. James opinions are tentative, not dogmatic or slanted to any ulterior purpose.

THE FIGHT FOR SURVIVAL

McCall's magazine for January, 1957, prints a lengthy article under the heading quoted. There is a steadily growing disquiet, apparently shared by many scientists, over the cumulative effects of radioactive fall-out, but unless something practical is done about it a world-wide disaster may ensue. Some of the sub-headings of the McCall article follow:

1. No amount of man-made radiation, external or internal, is "good" for healthy living things. Any amount of exposure does some harm, however slight.

2. Radiation is cumulative and irreversible. You have just so much radiation tolerance. Ideally, this tolerance should not exceed that to which we are normally exposed from sun - light, earth minerals, etc.

3. There is no such thing as peaceful use of atomic energy, if by "peaceful" you mean "harmless".

4. The more people exposed to radiation, the more damage for generations yet unborn. "Any radiation is genetically undesirable, since any radiation induces harmful mutations."

"This grim situation is a fact. If disagreements arise about it, they are over the degree of our danger. How much of this stuff has already been absorbed by plants, ingested by animals and given to humans in food and milk? How much have we inhaled? There is no question that the process is taking place all over the world and will continue to take place for many years.

"What can the average citizen do about this increasing danger? You can alert your Governor, your Mayor and your State and city health officials to the needless danger of erecting large-scale industrial atomic plants in highly populated areas. You can petition your Congressman and President for a national atomic health service. You can petition the President and your United Nations representative to work for an international atomic health service with powers of inspection and regulation."

(We print the foregoing paragraphs as a gesture of cooperation. IF enough people can be sufficiently impressed or frightened so that they make a similar gesture at the same time, these futilities add up to a demonstration --which in turn sometimes gets results.) m.l.

AKUALELE RESEARCH GROUP - Bulletin Vol.II, No.1, Jan. 20, 1957 - Honolulu, T.H.
Director Riley Crabb.

(SUVA, FIJI, Jan. 15. Reporter Jack Thornton to Honolulu Star-Bulletin).

During the past month three British skippers who were in Central Pacific waters when the atomic explosions took place at Bikini atoll (1956) have reported the seaweed vanished from their ships' hulls within 24 hours of the first explosion (May 5). Captain V. Ward was serving on the ship John Williams VI in the northern Gilbert Islands about 700 miles from Bikini: "We had been up in the Gilberts for months and were about due for annual refit in Suva. There was a couple of feet of grass all over her bottom. The day after the bomb went off all the grass disappeared." The Williams was a steel hulled ship so Thornton went to a man who had skippered wooden ships in The Gilberts the summer of '56, Capt. Alf Peckham: "I was on a copra ketch in the Gilberts and we lost our grass in the same way - timbers as smooth as a baby's backside the the next day." Then Thornton called on LCDR S. Brown, commanding the Royal Fiji Navy: "The same thing happened to my ship 800 miles from the Bikini tests; I reported it to the authorities at Tarawa."

(The Bulletin of the A.R.G. continues under the headings) -- SAUCER SIGHTINGS ON THE INCREASE HERE -- AND PHENOMENA TOO -- The latter includes "a big explosion rolling across the Honolulu waterfront area (cause unknown), and spectacular fireball or meteors. Under " THE MELANCHOLY TOLL" Editor Crabb notes, in addition to casualities officially reported "two marine jet pilots who disappeared completely along with their planes, no radio warning, no debris on the ocean (June 11 and Oct. 1. '56).

Concerning the R.A.D.M. FAHR INTERVIEW Director Crabb writes: The "Flying Saucers Are Real" story originating in Washington Jan. 16 was a real step forward and Rear Admiral Fahrney deserves a lot of credit. Trouble is, he is retired and all we have is another man's opinion. From out here in the Pacific it doesn't look as though anything has really changed in Washington. The real power behind the Silence Group, the National Security Council, is as intransigent as ever. So far as I know the only member of that body who answers direct to the voters is the President, and if he has sat on FS info. for four years why should we expect him to change in the next four? The recent election shows that the majority of voters approved of his policies and behavior. The Fahrney news release ('reality' of the UFO) did stir up a flurry of interest here - but only similar to what we have been doing for several years past, and which we shall continue to do, all of us researchers. We'll patiently gather information and understanding and gradually pull away from the mass of people among whom we live, until the gulf of ignorance separating us will be unbridgable." (end of quote from the A.R.G. BUL.)

(Director Riley Crabb is an experienced writer and investigator, and very favorably disposed toward the BSR ('Etheric') interpretation of the UFO phenomena).

MEMO: Re COMING OF THE GUARDIANS. After many difficulties and delays (nearly eight months) we are in receipt of about half of the mimeo, reprint of this booklet, but no complete copies can yet be sent out - and probably not for about three weeks more. We appreciate your patience and confidence, reassure you about any payments made to us, but hope you can still give us a little more time. This book contains the basic interpretation of the aeroforms (UFO) as given by the Mark Probert Controls, 1946 and later, and which remains the only inclusive concept of the true space ships yet offered from any source.

The price of this 100-page mimeo book will be $3.00.

ml

FLYING SAUCER REVIEW - (Nov.-Dec. '56. London):

The opening article of this issue is devoted to the 'case' of Elizabeth Klarer. 'A Flying Saucer landed in South Africa on April 7 last, in the Mooi River area in Natal, and the occu - pants made contact with Mrs. Klarer, whose personal account is given in F.S. Review and is strongly backed up and vouched for by Mr. Edgar Sievers of Pretoria, well-known author o f Flying Saucers uber Sudafrika. The 'space-men' claimed to be from Venus, and treated their guest with much consideration. They asserted that the lower strata of the Venusian atmosphere cannot be reached by our instruments, and that the upper layers are poisonous and extremely hot. The whole story to date i n- spires more than usual confidence and interest. (pgs 2-5 of SR)

World Roundup (pgs 6-9) includes 'huge saucer over Birch- leigh, Transvaal; about 1000 feet up and less than a mile away, 3 or 4 times the size of an air-liner. Over Montana, a shin- ing triangle or orange ball, plainly visible but could not be picked up by radar (well verified). Over Idaho, "a flying sau- cer put the snatch on a 400-pound steer: at least the saucer appeared and the steer instantly disappeared. Three respons - ible witnesses. No attempt made to head off the rustlers at the pass (!). Cigar-shaped and spindle-shaped objects over Japan, Singapore, New Zealand ... 10 unknown objects, pear - shaped, over Bournemouth Bay. "Amazing daylight sightings over London", well-authenticated. (The F.S.R. gives 4 pgs to simi- lar data, carefully selected.

An article entitled The Conspiracy of Silence, by John Lade (pgs. 10-12) ends with the following paragraph: "In 1957 the President of the United States may announce the presence and purpose of visitors from other planets. If (because of the silence group) this does not happen, I trust that the Queen will do so - alone and with courage."

In his article Current Status of the UFO Field in America, (pgs. 14,15) scientist and author M.K. Jessup expands a point repeatedly raised by BSR publications, that "sightings are tuppence ha'penny a baker's dozen, and are either accepted without question ... or rejected without consideration. There is no longer much of an element of proof in sightings, which are merely accumulating for the records and for possible fut - ure analysis; the trend is toward a reappraisal of actual sau- cer contacts ... There is a strong undercurrent of belief that events are being directed, or at least influenced, by spatial intellignece. . . There is everywhere an air of suspense and expectancy. Sensistive people feel that great events are com- ing ... tremendous changes .. "

In connection with this quotation from Mr. Jessop's arti- cle in F.S. Review, I call attention to the opening article in the BSR Round Robin XII-3, Sept.-Oct. 1956 - The Pre-Existence of the Future. In this the French philosopher Pierre-Emile Cornillier is quoted as saying: "Future events pre-exist only as projects; forecasts and predictions reveal only plans conceived by astral intelligences with the immutable aim of determining the spiritual evolution of human societies".

'Saucer clubs' (Mr. Jessop continues) are forming at a greater rate than ever ... there is a tendency for these to consist of mature people and the bug-eyed teen-agers are not so active as before... Government silence still prevails ... there is a rumour among press reporters in Washington (Nov. '56) that the Government is about to launch a movement to squelch and eliminate Ufology completely ... there is a definite feeling that the Government knows more than it is willing to tell about u.f.o's, but that even the Government does not have all the answers. . .'.

Flying Saucer Review continues with a 3-page article on Angel Hair, in which Charles A. Maney presents a tabulation, with comments, of the incidents involved. Seventeen cases or falls are included, ten of them in the United States, and all of them indubitably associated with the UFO or related phenomena. We had some of this curious stuff at BSR Hdqrs; it left no stain when handled, and a ball the size of a small hen's egg, attached to a twig, disappeared very slowly during several months. Different specimens appear to behave in different ways.

Under Unanswered Questions the Review quotes from BSR Clips and Quotes an article by Hugh A. Brown, E.E. - Has the Earth's Axis Tilted Many Times. The evidence points, Brown believes, to a sudden reversal of positions between tropical and polar regions, and the Review editor asks: "Could a possible tilt in the earth's axis be a factor influencing UFO interest in our world at the present time?"

Author and researcher Arthur Constance contributes a 4-page article under the head of This Amazing Universe. His book, The Inexplicable Sky, as a compendium of the incredible-but-true, over-reaches everything done since Charles Fort; but it is much more than that. It is an informed and devastating attack on pseudo-science and soi-disant scientists - which reads like fiction but documented for critical research. I am happy to be able to add that this distinguished scholar and writer has long approved of the BSR approach to the problem of the aeroforms.

(The Flying Saucer Review is published at 1 Doughty St., London W.C. 1, Eng. Bi-monthly, $3.50. The Inexplicable Sky is pub. at 1 Doughty St., London W.C.1. Werner Laurie; 308 pgs. 21 s.net. $3.50.

MISCELLANEA:

THE PENDULUM - A Monthly Digest of Radiesthesia. Publised monthly by Markham House Press, Ltd. 31 King's Road, London S.W. 3, Eng. About 20 pgs. The Dec. 1956 issue (Vol.7 No.3) contains:

Untapped Sources of Natural Energy -- Direct and Indirect Prospecting -- The Challenge to the Psychic World -- In Defence of the Mentalist -- A New Spirit Camera Process -- Witnesses: How to Verify their Help - Whither Radiesthesia -- Book Notices & Reviews.

In the writer's opinion this is one of the best issues to date. Recommended to BSR Associates and to everyone interested in radiesthesia, inclusing the re - markable achievements of the Day and De La Warr camera. Twelve issues, $3.80.

THE SAUCERIAN BULLETIN: Edited and pub. by Gray Barker, Box 2228, Clarksburg, W. Va. "Pub. often tho on no regular schedule, mainly when there is important news". Sample copy .35; six issues for 2.00. Six closely printed large-size pages of well selected material. From occasional past references in Barker's book, They Knew Too Much ... etc. I feel that he is favorably disposed toward the BSR interpretation of the UFO phenomena, at least until something better turns up. Meanwhile about all that Gray Barker or anyone else (almost) can do is to keep on collecting 'case histories', remarkable sightings, fantastic 'data' et cet. But the Key to the Door has been at hand for a decade anyhow, and many competent investi - gators are beginning to make use of it. . . Budget the Bulletin and ask Gray if he can't budge-it into the New Dawn.

BACK ISSUES OF ROUND ROBIN FOR SALE: By Assoc. J.H. Lukovich; 334 Phoenix St., McKees Rocks, Penna.

Vol. II, 1946: Nos. 8 - 9 - 11 - 12 Vol. III, 1947. Nos. 1 - 6 - 7- 8
Vol. IV, 1948: " 1 to 9 inclusive. Vol. VI, 1950 " 3 - 4
Vol. VII 1951: " 2 Vol. IX, '53 & '54. Nos. 4-5-6
Vol. X: 1 to 6 incl. 1954 - '55. Vol. XI, 1955: Nos. 1-2-3.

PRICES: Single copy - .50 (to cover mailing coast etc.)
Two copies - .75 Three (3) copies for $1.00.

: Please do NOT order from BSR Hdqrs. Remit to Assoc. Lukovich at
: address given above.

****

POSTCARD TO CQC EDITOR: (from one of our best known and highly informed Associates):

"Be sure to get yourself a copy of Astounding Science Fiction for February 1957. See article on page 54, "Unprovable Speculation", the editorial "Limitation of Method", page 6 (particularly the column at left of page 159, re Boundary Between Known and Unknown. Also "A field Theory of PSI, page 138. This issue is MUST reading. Call it to attention of all your friends before issue leaves stands on February 18. If I could afford it I'd buy copies for everyone working in the field of radionics, PSIonics, field theories of biology, et cet. "

This postcard comes in at the last moment - and the "in" means, last inch on the last stencil for this issue of G-4. Periodicals such as the one referred to, get onto the news stands about a week later on the Pacific Coast - So, your CQC Editor has NOT SEEN A COPY OF THE A.S.F., but passes the recomendation along with much confidence in our helpful Associate, avec gratitude.

ml.

PARADE OF THE FANTASTIC:

We have several times quoted well-known investigators (particularly M. K. Jessup and Arthur Constance in the admirable Flying Saucer Review of London) to the effect that 'there is no longer much of an element of proof in sightings, which are merely accumulating for the records and possible final analysis.' It is no doubt desirable, for the historian of the future if none other, that these thous - ands of pages of 'incredible' happenings be set down, and that 'everyman and his wife' should be told about them, whether they accept them or not, Yet such things as flying pigs and fiery serpents, and twelve-foot giants and twelve-inch pigmies prove nothing except that they exist.

If you put your hand into a grab-bag and pull out, one at a time, a dozen or a hundred oddities, seemingly purposeless and unrelated, maybe dangerous and maybe not, but still demanding some kind of rational explanation - how are you going to proceed? The objects, or experiences, or 'given' data do not offer any uniformity, do not classify. That is very embarrassing, because Science does not approve of it, cannot turn a single wheel without resemblance and difference. A fact is not a fact until it enters into relationships - i.e., 'natural laws' and events. Isolated curiosa simply do not exist - for science - but they DO exist for experience.

Can we make an inference from unrelated facts? Perhaps, from the fact that they ARE unrelated or seem so. Our inference might be, NOT that the data are really unrelated, unnatural, beyond natural laws, but that they conform with other laws we do not know about. The only inference possible is simply our own ignorance. Unfortunately, this is NOT the attitude of scientism, or orthodox science, or text-book or official science. And this impasse of scientific thought is hardly more than a dignified version of the average man's stupidity, confronted by the inexplicable.

Just at hand, Oct.-Nov. issue of SAUCER NEWS, Editor James W. Moseley, P.O. Box 163, Fort Lee, New Jersey. Bi-monthly; $2.00 per yr. Section headings include:

A Rare UFO, the Flying Serpent -- Opinion on the Adamski Controversy (by Aime Michel) -- Falling Mystery Object Almost Hits Woman -- Space Men visit Los Angeles Area (As Usual) -- Saucer Scare in Wichita, Kansas Area -- Military pilots Have Orders to Shoot Down Saucers -- Anti-World Universe May Exist -- Saucer Es - capes from Irishman -- News Briefs from Overseas -- Mystery Light Burns Hole In Street -- Plane Hits Mystery Object, Lands Safely (official explanation: Metal fatigue) -- Weird Whirling Light Frightens Penna. Woman -- Under Saucer Briefs, mention of "unearthly shrieking (in Van Wert, Ohio)" -- astonishing sea monster found in Alaska -- Mysterious objects over the Baltic Sea -- Remarkable photo - graph of Saucer by Calif. boy -- another by youth in New Jersey.

CONCERNING THE "B - CELL": (From letter to Editor : Mrs. Rosemary Belohlavek; 3720 West Sprague Road, Parma 29, Ohio): . . . "We contacted Mr. Brown (of B-Cell fame) and he was kind enough to send us samples. Joey and I observed tiny particles of the cell under a microscope and it surely was alive. And beautiful, too, with sparkling rays of light around them. We put the B-Cell into our electric well and it certainly changed the taste of the water which was formerly undrinkable and made it most palatable". Our correspondent goes on to say that plants watered with the 'activated' B-cell water "began to grow and multiply" but were dying when given fluorinated water instead. We would like to hear from any Associate who can examine this cell material with a compound microscope - not with a magnifying glass only. The Probert Controls once asserted, that 'basic life units' gave off tiny flashes of light ' Take a look anyhow, if the CP Mik is working.

ml

C4

CITAR - NOTE

3

COMMODORE

Licensed BY-WAGNER

by

Time 8:52:54